

Disclaimer Statement

All of the materials available on this Web site, in particular those containing information relating to health and/or physical therapy practice are intended for informational and educational purposes only. While the North Carolina Physical Therapy Association (NCPTA) makes every effort to present accurate and reliable information on this Web site, the NCPTA does not endorse, approve, or certify such information, nor does it guarantee the accuracy, completeness, efficacy or timeliness of such information. The NCPTA does not provide physical therapy services or advice via the Internet (including the World Wide Web). Do not rely on information contained within this Web site in lieu of consultation with a licensed physical therapist or other health care practitioner as appropriate. Always consult a licensed physical therapist in matters concerning your physical therapy health needs. Unless otherwise indicated, the copyright in all of the materials available on this Web site belongs to the NCPTA. All Rights Reserved. Except as expressly set forth below, the content of this Web site may not be republished, reproduced, transmitted, or distributed, whether mechanically, electronically, or in any other medium, without prior written approval from the NCPTA. Commercial reproduction and multiple distribution or publication, in any form or medium, is prohibited. Individuals or educational institutions may reproduce content from this Web site for non-commercial educational or personal purposes only, in accordance with "fair use" principles under U.S. copyright law. Copies of any portion of the content of this Web site must include a notice that such content is "Copyrighted by the Virginia Physical Therapy Association." All trademarks and service marks appearing on this Web site are the property of their respective owners. Use of such trademarks or service marks, or mention of commercially available products or services, on this Web site does not constitute or imply any endorsement by the NCPTA of such products or services."